

Life Opportunities

The people we support benefit from the following:

Thomas was experiencing increased agitation and anxiety, causing placement issues. Through working closely with the key professionals involved in his care, alongside advice and guidance from Potens Behavioural Support & Therapy team, effective support was offered through this difficult period. The staff team played a vital role in providing a consistent, person centred support approach. The result was that he became more settled and showed signs of contentment and willingness to interact with staff and other service users.
