Developing peoples' futures

Our Values are.....

Trust: Ensuring that all communications are truthful, understandable to those it affects and maintains the relationship of reliability.

Positive Regard: Recognising and respecting the differences that every individual brings, both good and bad, and making the necessary adjustments to assist individuals to positively grow.

Shared learning: Sharing knowledge, skills, attitudes and understanding whilst ensuring that any activity is done to the best of our collective abilities.

Equality: Treating everyone differently in order to afford them the same opportunities.

Welcome to Redwood House

Becoming an adult, experiencing life changes, planning for the future and managing to acquire skills and knowledge for independence is an important time in any young person's life. Supporting young people with complex needs through transition can however be even more difficult and therefore requires careful planning and exploration, agreeing future directions and pathways are essential for good transition planning.

At Redwood House we offer young people and adults with the opportunities to explore their futures in a positive environment so that we can nurture and shape transition pathways to maximise successful outcomes.

We believe that everyone has potential and its just about finding what this is, in creative ways. Our aim is to embrace this potential so that the people we support continue their life journey as independently as possible.

Registered Manager

Enquiring about our service?

- Give us a call or send us an email and the Registered Manager will tell you all about the service.

We can then arrange a visit so you can have a look around.

- If you are interested we will ask you to complete a referral form.
- We will then work with the parents, social worker and the young person/adult to do a full assessment to make sure our service is appropriate .
- We will write to the social worker confirming the offer of a placement.
- We will all work together to support a smooth transition.

Developing Transitional Pathways

We work closely with our social care and education partners in developing seamless residential transitions for young people and adults aged 16 -25 years.

Our enablement approach encourages people to create aspirational transitional pathway plans to positively challenge people to be the best they can be.

Developing Skills & Strategies for Life

Our primary aim at Redwood House is to support young people and adults to gain the necessary skills to live as independently as possible. We focus on developing people's emergent life skills to live a purposeful life, whilst also develop strategies such as functional problem solving skills. Developing people's foundation skills help prepare for the future.

Developing Employment Opportunities

We work in partnership with Schools, Colleges and local businesses so that the people we support are supported to develop their employment opportunities. We create realistic employment options where people are valued and contribute positively to their communities.

Our Staff & Approach

Our staff have been individually selected, based on their positive values and attitudes in supporting people with learning disabilities and autism.

Our staff promote a 'can do' approach to the support they offer, so that young people and adults are enabled and confident in exploring life's opportunities.

Even the subtle achievements are celebrated which helps to increase people's confidence in the next steps they take in life.
