British Values Policy

November 2018

Review Date: November 2019

Introduction

In June 2014, the Prime Minister emphasised the important role that British values can play in education.

How well a school promotes such values is an aspect of Ofsted's inspection process.

These values are integral to our overall vision and values as defined:

- Being Part of Britain
- Democracy
- Rules and Laws
- Individual Liberty
- Mutual Respect

These values are taught explicitly through our Life and Living Skills curriculum and PSHE.

We also teach and reinforce British Values through planning and delivering a broad and balanced curriculum.

Being Part of Britain

As a school, we value and celebrate being part of Britain. In general terms, this means that we celebrate traditions and customs in the course of the year. For example, Harvest Festival during the autumn term and trips to the pantomime at Christmas. We also value and celebrate national events.

Pupils also learn about being part of Britain from different perspectives.

Two specific examples of when we teach about being part of Britain are:

Geographically: Our rivers, coasts and seaside holiday topics ensure that children have a better understanding of what Britain is, learning more about:

- its coasts, rivers and mountains
- where Britain is in relation to the rest of Europe and other countries in the world

Historically: Key moments in British History are studied in topics such as 'London's Burning' and studies focussing on significant historical figures.

Democracy

Pupils, parents and staff have many opportunities for their voices to be heard at Arbour House School. Democracy is central to how we operate. Giving all pupils a voice reflects Britain's electoral system to demonstrate democracy in action:

Children are asked to respond and reflect on the teaching and learning they receive as well as make suggestions to the Senior Leadership Team.

Pupils are always listened to by adults and are taught to listen carefully and with concern to each other, respecting the right of every individual to have their opinions and voices heard. We encourage pupils to take ownership of not only their school but also of their own learning and progress. This encourages a developed sense of both personal and social responsibility and is demonstrated on a daily basis by our pupils.

Parents' opinions are welcomed through methods such as questionnaires, surveys at parents meetings, pupil reviews and via the Parent Governor.

Rules and Laws

The importance of rules and laws, whether they be those that govern our school or our country, are referred to and reinforced often, such as in assemblies and when reflecting on behaviour choices. At the start of the school year, each class discusses the school rules and class routines, principles that are clearly understood by all and seen to be necessary to ensure that every class member is able to learn in a safe and ordered environment.

Pupils are taught the value and reasons behind laws, that they govern and protect us, the responsibilities that this involves, and the consequences when laws are broken. These values are reinforced in different ways:

- visits from authorities such as the police and fire service
- during other school subjects, where there is respect and appreciation for different rules

Individual Liberty

Alongside rules and laws, we promote freedom of choice and the right to respectfully express views and beliefs. Through the provision of a safe, supportive environment, we provide boundaries for our pupils to make choices safely; for example:

- choices about meaningful learning targets
- choices about how they would like their achievements celebrated and rewarded

Our pupils are encouraged to know, understand and exercise their rights and personal freedoms and are taught how to exercise these safely, such as in PSHE and THRIVE sessions.

Mutual Respect

One of our core aims is to prepare children for adulthood. This drives us towards ensuring that our pupils are able to live and work alongside people from all backgrounds and cultures. This will be particularly necessary in a future where due to technological advances will make the 'world a smaller place.'

Our pupils know and understand that it is expected that respect is shown to everyone and to everything, whatever differences we may have. Children learn that their behaviour choices have an effect on their own rights and those of others. All members of the school community are encouraged to treat each other with respect.

Specific examples of how we enhance pupils' understanding and respect for different faiths and beliefs are:

- through Life and Living Skills, PSHE and other lessons where we develop awareness and appreciation of other cultures – in English through fiction and in Creative Curriculum and Humanities by considering cultures from other parts of the world;
- celebrating cultural differences through themed weeks, noticeboards and displays.
